There are often times when you need to open to programs at the same time and often. you may want your batch photo renamer to open with your photo importing program, or a IP blocking program with your torrent (nota problem it you use the previously mentioned all in one Deluge bit torrent client)
Usually you have to click on the start menu and then find the program, launch it, then click start, find the other program and launch that. This slow and a big hassle. The better way to launch programs is to use one short to launch your related programs at once. There are two ways to do this, so I'll let you pick the one you like. To use these make a new text file, paste the displayed text, change the paths the ones for your programs and save it with the .bat extension instead of the .txt extension.

Way 1:

@echo off
start "" "C:\Program Files\Your Program\Run me.exe" start "" "C:\Program Files\Other Program\Run me too.exe"
```

Way 2:

```
@echo off
cd C:\Program files\Your Program start .\Run Me.exe cd C:\Program files\Other Program start Run Me Too.exe exit
```

You can use these to launch as many programs as you want, all from one short cut!

I hope this makes life easier
